“ I was so sorry to hear about your passing. My Mom married your Uncle Walker many years ago. After Walkers and your Moms passing, you were also so kind in checking in on my Mom, Lela Dobson, and you two remembering each other's birthdays, they were so close. You were always a gentle soul and kind person and I thank God for your life. Kay Berryhill

“ One of my best friends ever.....2 single guys we were there always to help each other out. We both thought alike so it was easy to deal with each other. I'll never look at deserts again without remembering Larry and his passion for any foods. Always looking for ways to make people laugh but yet keep things serious when needed. I'll miss our lunches together and driving our GTO's. I'm glad he attended the REO Concert with me a couple of weeks ago for one last outing. Thank you God for sharing somebody like Larry in my life.

“ Larry was one of a kind and one of the most interesting people I had the pleasure of knowing. His sense of humor was second to none and the storytelling, sometimes long but he keep your interest. His quest for knowledge was amazing, always pressing friends to share their interest of in life. One of my fondest memories of Larry was when Hostess, the makers of "Twinkies" went on strike a few years back and shut down the Tulsa facility, Larry panicked. At least one would believe he had panicked. He was convinced that couldn't survive without them. And when they started showing back up on the shelves, he bought by the case and knew what their shelf life was. His trips to the Buffett during club meeting nights were incomparable, to say the least. I kinda lost touch with Larry the past few years and I regret that. Gosh, I'm sure going to miss him.

“ Thank God for Larry. He was a good story teller and knew more names of Music groups and their recording labels. We shared so much music history and he knew so much. He loved food and we had a nice long lunch often. We talked about our Pontiac cars named Ole Blue, GTO Ole Red, GTO and Ole Green my Firebird. He loved to tell about his time in the navy and the ships he was on. He was a very kind person and was always happy. L Crider buffed a garage door bump off Ole Red and Larry put the same bump on the car the next time he drove in the garage!
Got a call from Miller asking if I had any magic stuff that would remove the blemish. Wanted me to be at the cruise early so Crider wouldn't know. I complied and the defect was removed before L Crider found out! He will be missed by many many friends. I will forever miss him! (Will miss his antics with the rubber chicken too)

A friend always,
