“ I was lucky enough to work with Dr. Wolfe regarding the documentation that was required to make him eligible for placement at Fort Gibson Nat'l Cemetery. We shared common interests, that being of his surrounding area, along with my links to Texas and St. Louis. He was a dear man, and one who will be memorialized by us from now on.

“ To the family of Dr Nelson Wolfe, I didn't know Nelson very well but always liked and respected him a lot. We did share being from Indiana and both attended Indiana University School of Dentistry. My condolences to the family. He was a fine man.

“ Dr. Wolfe was one of the first dentists I ever worked for. He and his wife Jean were such kind and loving people, their family was very special to me. Lifting this family up in prayers and hope they find peace, knowing he is in the arms of Jesus.

“ Although we rejoice that Nelson is now living in the glory of our Lord and Savior, we will miss his wonderful stories. However we hold on to the memories of our time together. We first knew Nelson and Jean in Barrow, Alaska when he served as a dentist for the community and Jean gave birth to their beautiful daughter. Stan and Nelson enjoyed "mushing" with the dog team Nelson put together as they explored the nearby coast. Amy and Stan Zent

“ Sad to share news of the passing of Dr. Nelson Wolfe, DDS on 11/13/18. I met Nelson & his wife, Jean Wolfe, when we were all members of the former Church of the Holy Spirit Episcopal, now Christ Church Tulsa. Although I was from Missouri & they moved from Atlanta, we had a couple random ‘6 degrees of separation’ connections:

1. Nelson owned property in Cochise County, Arizona, where I lived for 6 years & Megan DiGregorio and Sarah Jane DiGregorio were born.
2. One of his earlier dental practices was in Alamosa, Colorado, where my aunt Florence and uncle Orion were his patients.

Nelson had a wide range of interests: mission work; small plane pilot who taught his granddaughter Jennifer Kontje how to fly before she was old enough to drive; a zillion hobbies that Jean can describe. True to form, when he was diagnosed earlier this year with terminal illness, Nelson promptly bought chickens to raise in order to ‘keep his mind off things’.

My personal favorite Nelson accomplishment was that he was the father of my dear friend Barb Kontje.

RIP good & faithful servant.

“ I remember the last time I saw Nelson. We both arrived at the Trinity House for our church Bar B Q and he grabbed my arm and we walked arm in arm to the door. He talked a lot, mostly about the treatment and the doctors he was dealing with in OKC. Nelson will be remembered for his good mood, always ready to talk, (as long as it was something he was interested in), asked about how our family members were doing, and a sweet and generous person. When I went out to see his chickens, he had to show me from the beginning when he first got them, to his sitting in the pen with chickens jumping up on his lap to be fed. What good therapy that was for him. He, Jean and I started to church in Owasso at the same time. We had lots of similar events in our lives. My husband and Nelson were the same age, Jean & I same age, we all were married the same summer and celebrated birthdays in the same summer. I know Nelson's family will all have great memories of Nelson and he will be missed by many folks he has come in contact with in his life time. I know I will miss him a great deal. Dixie Spears
