“ Almost 42 years ago I gained a 2nd mom when I married my husband (Allen). She was a Tiny but mighty woman. She commanded respect . She was strong in what’s right and what’s wrong . She loved unconditionally, and she guided me through so much since I was a teenage bride all those years ago. She taught me throughout the last 42 years so very much that she is now in every part of who I am today. She also was a real estate broker. Actually both her and Daddy were. They are the reason I got into real-estate . They set me aside one day 27 years ago and just said you need to try this you would be good at it. I wasn’t sure at all but they were so I gave it a shot and I found that I loved it. There were right. I was truly blessed to have a second set of parents by marriage who both loved me unconditionally as if I was their own and I loved them both with all my heart. Today I celebrate Momma’s life I rejoice that she is no longer in pain, and that she’s with Jesus , daddy , her Momma ,Papa and sister Lana. I will never forget all that I learned from her. and I am so very grateful that I was blessed to be given such a wonderful 2nd Momma and friend. In my head I can still hear voice. her say “God all Friday” as an expiative or when someone would cut her off driving(Well Buddy). I never heard her swear ever, She cared about everyone and I mean everyone not just her family. She was just filled with love. She was so much fun to be with. She loved to spend time with family and friends cook, craft, play games, garden and go to garage sales . she had a great sense of humor and at times she would get so tickled she would laugh until she cried. I have so very many wonderful memories I wish I could live them all over again. Today I found a voice mail message from her that she left in October. It wasn't about much but I listened to it over and over just wishing I had saved all the past voicemails she had left me. She was a wonderful human and the world is better for having her in it for the time that she was here.

I will miss her greatly and I will live every day trying to make her proud.
