“ There are many things that go into the creation of a good person. I think God creates something in them that sets them apart to be not only a good person, but also a good example for all of us. They aren't perfect, nor are they without flaw; but upon reflection, and in our time spent with them, it's easy to see this gift that God created in them. They have a regard for the wellbeing of others far above themselves. They are there with words of comfort, wisdom, and love for all of us in every situation. It's a wonderful gift that many people among us have been given. I consider myself very fortunate to have seen it in Kelly. She will be missed, she will be remembered, and she will always be, to me, an example of a good person!

Thank You Kelly!
