“'Praying for you all during this difficult time. I have many happy memories of Kristy, and all of you, mostly when we were kids. When I think of Kristy, I remember her as such a happy person, always smiling. She didn"t care too much of what other people thought of her, she was always herself. A very kind and loving, special person. She was a great lady and very special to those who knew her. Sending hugs.'

“To Kristy's family,\nMy heartfelt and deepest sympathy to all of you who loved this beautiful woman. To say Kris enjoyed reading is an understatement. In high school she could be found with several novels stacked neatly atop her study books. Each day the study books remained the same, but the novels changed. She was known for her aggressive tactics on the volleyball and basketball court in those high school years. After decades had gone by without a peep from her, I found her a few years ago thru Facebook and our friendship ensued and blossomed. The woman I once thought was my polar opposite, I later discovered had so much in common with me. It wasn't easy to break the shell and gain her trust, but once she finally consented to being my friend my life changed for the better.\n\nI will miss my dear friend. I will miss our chats, our political conversations, our civil rights talks, having a chance to read her works, her laugh, our phone calls with interruption from Little bit and Whinne'
