“ I loved Mr. Ward. The way he loved and respected Mrs. Ward. The way they loved and respected each other!! He was an Amazing man. They were a lovely couple. I know he didn't want to leave her. I'm so thankful he had a good long life. He was a wonderful "Real" man.

I'm missing your presence at Ward House, my fav Bro-in-law, and our occasional sun room chats. We did manage to fix a few problems, that's a fact. You have earned your silver wings and flew through the surly bonds of earth to a pain-free Place. Save me a seat, okay.

And, now I have no one to ask for recitation of the auxiliary verbs.
