“ I just found out Marilee had passed away & was really a shock. Your nmoter & went thru a lot & our relation lasted off & on for 50 yrs. We shared both sadness & joy. Guess that's what makes a friendship. The last I saw your mother was just before Jack & left the house. As was often in our relationship we had difference but always managed to find each other. I was concerned because your mother was struggling with Brent's death & I worried about how fragile her mental & emotional state was. I'm so sad I didn't find until now. I'm on facebook & would really like hearing from one of you. Hopefully you'll remember me. Go back to the trailer park in Catoosa that might jog your memory

“ My mom gave me so much advice on life. She was the smartest person I knew. She taught me to fix my car, appliances, washer and dryer and many more. Mom would say learn how to do everything yourself so you don't have to rely on a man. Best advice was date a man for a full year so you will truly know him. Every season a person shows a different side of them. I cried alot with my mom but I also laughed alot. Mom helped me raise my babies. I couldn't of done it without her. She taught Savannah to say Hi in one day. I got home from work walked in the front door Sav was in her chair and spun around and threw her hand up and said Hi!!!Ma. My mom loved All her grand kids very much. Love you mom very much, DeeDee Anna
