“ The Lovely Man AKA Randy now has reached not only knighthood but his wings tonight. It is with great sadness and shock that I had to let him go tonight. But he is in a better place feeling no pain and surely God will let this knight of old guard his gates for him as his heart will be judged in righteousness and love. He was and is the love of my life and I would not trade one moment spent with him. I would do it all again and again. Apart of me died with him tonight but it's ok. I will be ok. I will grieve but I will also cherish all the great memories as well as the bad ones for that is how you grow in love. And we had plenty of love. From the first time you tipped your Cowboy hat at me I was lost in your cowboy ways which I deeply loved. So tonight I grieve and then tomorrow will come and I will face the challenges then. But tonight I grieve.... for my Cowboy Knight ...the Lovely Man....my husband the love of my life. I will always love you... Michelle

So sorry Michelle. He was a sweet man and I will miss him coming out to get the mail and chat with me everyday.

So sorry for your loss. I met Randy while I was working at Advance Auto Parts and Oreilly. I enjoyed dealing with him. Prayers and thoughts to you and your families.
