The family of Stephen Aston thanks you for your prayers and support and would ask, in lieu of purchasing flowers for the funeral, if you would instead use the money as a donation to the Collinsville Christian Church. The money will be used specifically for much needed repairs and replacement of LED lights on the exterior of the building and parking area to provide for increased safety of the church patrons at night. This was one of Steve's final wishes; that the church would benefit from his life and death. Thank you again.
