“ 'Terry you were the definition of unconditional love. Watching you light up when your sons and grandchildren were around every single time is a true testimate of your love, and importance of family. Watching you giggle and laugh with your siblings/n laws rubbed off , and your laughter was soo contagious. You were always the true you, and that was much respected. The Lord had blessed you with a determined nature to push through everything that was put in way. You had always put others first, and you spent your life caring for others. I hope that we can carry on what you had taught us, and love like you.\r\nWe will see you on the other side.\r\nWe will forever miss you.\r\nChad, Jamie and the kids'

“ 'Truly sorry for your loss! I have not had to experience the loss of a parent or sibling but I can only imagine the pain. My heart and prayers are with your family at this time. Looking at our final destination gets a little less stressful when we know we will meet our christian friends and family members when we get to heaven. God bless you Worley family!'
